The Conference's details |

The economic and social context is a driving force for innovative enterprises that will lead to sustainable and balanced economic development. Future entrepreneurs have all the necessary conditions to start successful businesses in developed and developing economies.
IBMAGE 2020 International Conference presents itself as a scientific platform through which researchers, practitioners and entrepreneurs have the opportunity to test their innovative ideas. At the same time, the conference provides an opportunity to discuss current issues with academics and scientists who theoretically address aspects of contemporary economics. We also intend to create information networks and promote by publishing participants' ideas. See more…
